ACTAR Exam
Las Vegas, NV
Sunday, May 31, 2009

"I only wanted to take the test once, so I looked for the most comprehensive prep class I could find. It was a bit of a gamble because I had to travel across country for the class, but it paid off with a passing score on the first attempt. I can honestly say I would not have passed the exam without this class. And now they offer this class across the U.S."

Sam Terry, Crashteam Las Vegas, Henderson, NV ACTAR # 2068

"I originally took the ACTAR exam in August of 2005 and failed miserably. In December, 2006, I took SRR Training's first ACTAR prep class, and retook the exam. The prep course not only honed my math skills, but I also learned the proper way to prepare a diagram to the ACTAR standards. I highly recommend this course to any one taking the ACTAR exam."

Sergeant Brian McMasters, Boston MA Police Department, ACTAR #1671

"Having taught accident reconstruction at the college level, I was somewhat hesitant to take the SRR's ACTAR Preparatory course--what could it possibly offer that I didn't know? The answer: How to pass the exam! The instructors focus on how to prepare specifically for the exam, honing the specific skills that help you pass. Frankly, one would be foolish to take the ACTAR exam without taking this course--even if you would pass anyway, you deepen your knowledge with the excellent SRR instruction."

Officer Brian Coon, Wamego, KS Police Department ACTAR #1842

"This course not only refreshes topics that have been gone over in previous Accident Investigation and Reconstruction Courses, but allows the students to collaborate and gain knowledge from each other. This collaboration, coupled with the knowledgeable instructors and their desire for you to pass the exam, makes this course a must have if you plan on challenging the exam."

Officer Paul Johnson, Rockwall Police Dept., Rockwall, Texas ACTAR # 1869

"When preparing for the ACTAR exam, make this course a priority. The four day course covers topics and application skills that may be a bit rusty. It also provides test taking strategies that will prove to be beneficial on test day. The course is taught by two extremely knowledgeable instructors who truly care and want you to pass. This course should be a priority for all ACTAR candidates."

Officer Mark A. Sole, Tulsa Police Department, Tulsa, Oklahoma ACTAR #1965

This four-day course has many facets to it, primarily though, it is the goal of the instructors to instill the confidence in the attendees so that they can be prepared to take and pass this examination. This will be accomplished by:

- Review of reconstruction principles
- Table-top exercises
- Scenario training Field Exercises
- Open Group Discussions and One-on-One Interaction
- Practice Tests
- Intense Review of Subjects that have appeared on past ACTAR Exams
